Tracy argues that nineteenth-century debates over what constitutes British national identity often revolved around representations of Irishness, especially Irish womanhood. He maps the genealogy of this development in fiction, political discourse, and the popular press, from Edgeworth's Castle Rackrent through Trollope's Irish novels, focusing on the pivotal period from 1806 through the 1870s.

For courses in Introductory French. Anchored in the best current innovations in language instruction, Chez nous, 3/e presents a highly integrative approach to the teaching of French language and culture. This thematically organized program combines a process-oriented approach to language skills development with carefully sequenced practice that leads beginning students to self-expression in French. Learners are encouraged to discover culture through authentic materials, tasks, and an expansive cultural perspective that embraces metropolitan France and the Francophone world. In addition, Chez nous, 3/e offers a full complement of supplementary materials--including a printed Student Activities Manual (SAM) or an electronic version via OneKey, an integrated video program filmed with native speakers, and a wealth of interactive practice on the Chez nous Companion Website--to help learners develop their listening, reading, speaking and writing skills in French.

Correlated to recorded material on the Audio CDs to Accompany the SAM, the lab manual offers a progression of form- to content-based listening practice. The new video manual section provides pre, during, and post-viewing activities that focus students' attention on both the linguistic and cultural content of the Chez nous Video.
