No matter how great Sunday's worship service was, there's always another Sunday lurking at the end of the next week that must be planned. Church leaders often fall into ruts, working on automatic pilot just trying to get things together, which does not allow for much creativity or focus on designing services that lead to transformation for those involved in them. Engage is a step-by-step, stress-free guide to planning worship services that allow for and foster true life change. Comprehensive in scope, Engage provides teaching pastors, worship leaders, and volunteers with the tools they need to work together to develop and implement a worship planning system that improves communication, enhances creativity, and honors Jesus every week.

Bringing together empirical cultural and media studies of religion and critical social theory, Technologies of Religion: Spheres of the sacred in a post-secular modernity investigates powerful entanglement of religion and new media technologies taking place today, taking stock of the repercussions of digital technology and culture on various aspects of religious life and contemporary culture more broadly. Making the argument that religion and new media technologies come together to create "spheres"—environments produced by an architecture of digital technologies of all sorts, from projection screens to social networking sites, the book suggests that prior social scientific conceptions of religious worship, participation, community and membership are being recast. Using the case of the strain of American Christianity called "multi-site," an emergent and growing church-model that has begun to win favor largely among Protestants in the last decade, the book details and examines the way in which this new mode of religiosity bridges the realms of the technological and the physical. Lastly, the book situates and contextualizes these developments within the larger theoretical concerns regarding the place of religion in contemporary capitalism. Technologies of Religion: Spheres of the sacred in a post-secular modernity offers an important contribution to the study of religion, media, technology and culture in a post-secular world.

You were made for something more. Deep inside you know it's true. Getting up, going to work, coming home, and going to bed isn't doing it for you. You long for a life that matters. What will people say about you when you're gone? Will they even notice that another cog in the corporate machine is missing? Will people instead talk about the difference you made in their lives? Will anyone say, "My life is better for having known her" or "I'd be so much worse off if he hadn't given of himself?" The path to significance and meaning isn't paved with dollars or fame. It's paved with sacrifice and humility. While some people make a difference through their own selfishness, at the expense of others, most of us can put aside our plans and ambitions and really make a difference, a difference that outlasts our lives, a difference that changes lives and affects generations. This book is for every Christian or Christian leader who serves in the church, wants to, or leads people who do. Do you know why you serve? What do you do when it's difficult to do what you know God is calling you to do? Can you really serve in the same church for the rest of your life? What about money? Should people who serve be paid? We'll discuss reasons for serving, the attitude to have, leadership, following, flexibility, being a part of a team, and much more. This is a unique book because the author isn't a Pastor or even paid staff. He's a regular guy who's been serving tirelessly for years and wants to share what he's learned with you. You can affect lives and eternities. Will you or will you stay comfortable on your couch affecting nothing? The choice is yours.
